

A Letter from our Executive Director

November 20, 2009

Dear AMC Supporters,

In the world of AMC Cancer Fund the promises of great medical discoveries and dramatic advances in the treatment of cancer inspire new energy and optimism. In our partnership with the University of Colorado Cancer Center (the only Comprehensive Cancer Center in the Rocky Mountain Region, so designated by the federal government's National Cancer Institute) we will expand our capability to identify and, ultimately, solve many of the mysteries of cancer and thereby improve health worldwide.

Recently, a loyal and generous donor to AMC challenged us to raise money for a vital, yet relatively unknown component of cancer research. We welcome these types of challenges, because we know that philanthropic efforts "keep on giving" and every donation counts. The money raised by AMC Cancer Fund is utilized by scientists to conduct ground-breaking research that is quickly adapted from the laboratory to the bedsides of cancer patients all over the country.

You can be part of this steady and impressive progress of science and medical research by giving a gift and supporting our mission.

Our staff and the scientists of UCCC join me in expressing gratitude for your support and wish you and your family and friends health and happiness.

Sincerely,

Joel Edelman, Executive Director
